We'll be glad to discuss the options and any requirements with you prior to booking your event.

Who are my event hosts?

All of our event hosts are subject matter specialists in their respective fields. Depending on the event format you select, we'll introduce you to your host and their credentials early in the planning process.

Can you make suggestions on food pairings?

Absolutely! For events involving beer, wine, and spirits, we always advise that our clients offer snacks or small plates as a matter of responsible consumption.
